NEW FAMILY INCOME LIMITS ANNOUNCED FOR FREE/ REDUCED PRICE SCHOOL MEALS

A high percentage of Maine public school students will be eligible for a free or reduced cost school meal under new federal family-income guidelines announced this week by Miss Gertrude Grincy, Director of School Nutrition Programs for the Maine Department of Educational and Cultural Services.

All of the public schools in the state having a federally sponsored school lunch or school breakfast program will be giving parents the opportunity to apply for free or reduced cost meals for their children. Schools will give each student to take home an application and a letter to parents announcing the availability of school meals for all children and the conditions under which free or reduced priced meals will be granted.

In determining which families qualify for the free or reduced price meals, school officials in Maine will use the following guidelines:

Family Size (including adults)	Free Meals Total Family Income
1	$0 to $2,740
2	0 to 3,690
3	0 to 4,460
4	0 to 5,310
5	0 to 6,180
6	0 to 6,980
7	0 to 7,600
8	0 to 8,310
9	0 to 8,950
10	0 to 9,600
11	0 to 10,240
12	0 to 10,930

For each additional family member add $640

Family Size (including adults)	Reduced Price Meals Total Family Income
1	$2,741 to $3,230
2	3,691 to 4,220
3	4,461 to 5,250
4	5,311 to 6,390
5	6,181 to 7,320
6	6,981 to 8,270
7	7,601 to 9,120
8	8,311 to 9,860
9	8,951 to 10,750
10	9,601 to 11,520
11	10,241 to 12,290
12	10,931 to 13,060

For each additional family member add $770

In addition, there are certain other conditions under which a family is urged to apply. These conditions include unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child and disaster losses such as loss from flood fire accident etc.

In certain instances, foster children are also eligible for these benefits.

Any parent who believes his family could qualify under any of the above standards is asked to contact the school official.

INDEPENDENT EDUCATION GOING STRONG AT GOULD ACADEMY

Independent education shows no sign of fatigue at Gould Academy. Bethel's 197 year old educational secondary school.

According to Headmaster Richard J. Dolven, today's student seeks a broad academic program, exposure to environmental challenges, and perhaps most important, a sincere interest in his growth as a person. Having committed itself to these concerns, Gould Academy opened this week with 113 boys and 113 girls. This record enrollment of 226 includes students from 29 states, the District of Columbia and nine foreign countries.

The foreign students are part of a three-year old exchange program which this year enables a number of Gould students to study abroad and bring 22 students to the campus from such countries as Germany, France and Sweden. Gould students will live with European families and study language and culture.

Many of the remaining students returned this week for pre-season training.

NEW IN S. A. D. 44 as schools opened this week were:

From left to right: Paul Vincent, grade 6, Woodstock; Adrienne Couture, kindergarten, Woodstock; Patricia Rivard, kindergarten, Andover; Howard Waten, assistant principal, Telstar; Bruce Buckland, English, Telstar; Bank Row-Raymond; Melton, physical education coordinator, R.C. John Emery, grade 5, C. P. S.; Sam Elliot, Director of Pupil Personnel Services, Telstar; and T. R. H. S. last spring as guidance counselor; Robert Remington, math, Telstar.

P. U. C. DISMISSES COMPLAINT INVOLVING BRYANT POND TELEPHONE COMPANY

In a decision rendered last Thursday, the Maine Public Utilities Commission dismissed the complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hall alleging that the Bryant Pond Telephone Company provided inadequate service.

The PUC held a hearing at the Woodstock Elementary School on Aug. 6 on the matter. The complaint stated that potential customers' calls were being delayed, and that the company was having difficulty contacting them and it was felt that the company was not doing its best to provide service.

The PUC also suggested that the company, New England Tel. Co., and the Bryant Pond Tel. Co., be informed, seek to improve the arrangement on incoming toll calls to eliminate the sources of any problem.

SENIOR CITIZENS TO MEET AT NEWRY, TUESDAY, SEPT. 11

The Bethel Senior Citizens will meet at Newry, Tuesday, Sept. 11, at the Grange Hall in Newry, beginning at 11 o'clock. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of Newry Grange.

MUSIC BOOSTERS TO MEET MONDAY, SEPT. 10 AT T. R. H. S.

SAD 44 Music Boosters will hold a very important planning meeting on Monday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 at the main room of Telstar Regional High School. All interested parents and friends in the district are urged to attend.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT SPECIAL TOWN MEETING WEDNESDAY

There was a small attendance at a special Bethel town meeting on Wednesday evening held at the Telstar Auditorium. A majority of those present gave favorable votes with regard to appropriating $1,200 from surplus for the surface drain account, and authorized the selection of a dispositive of tax acquired property. Dexter Stowell was moderator.

MACDONALD IS DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR DISTRICT 6 STATE SENATE SEAT

Burt A. MacDonald of West Peru has received the unanimous vote of the town's Democratic Committee to be a candidate for the Senate Seat in District Six, which was vacated by David Aldrich of Norway, who resigned to accept an appointment as a District Court Judge.

A two-woman, Mr. MacDonald served as a county commissioner of Oxford County for six years, 1966 through 1972. He was chairman for the last year of his term.

Other names for the town of West Peru are: West Peru, Woodstock, Greenwood, Milton Plantation, Bethel, Grand Park, Oxford, Norway, Waterford, Somerville, Lond, Albany Township, Snow, Sweden, Denmark, Freyburg, Brownfield, Hiram and Porter, all in Oxford County, and the towns of Bridgton and Harrison in Cumberland County.

It is expected that the Census will show a population for the special election to be held in November in conjunction with the voting on the referendum question.

It is believed that up to this point in time, the Republicans have not made a decision as to whom their candidate will be.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Christa Morgan, Corres.

The afternoon was fresh and sparkling. I decided to go boating and of course took my fish pole along. When I pushed my boat into the water a bull frog protested and belly flopped from a hammock. In a moment he surfaced and regarded me with jeweled eyes, bulging and bright.

Perhaps I am a local yokel but on a day like this a trip by boat is hard to top. Power boats are fine but too many have forgotten the thrill of rowing or paddling. There is a feeling of buoyancy while the boat responds to the oars.

Every small pond offers a change of delights. You can drift and dream or anchor in deep water. Anyway, a pond is a good way to spend a leisurely afternoon.

I cast a few times as I went to look at the long stemmed beauties which when placed in a bowl will open each morning and give delight to fragrance. I prefer them in their natural setting where I admired them today.

My lure interested neither pike nor bass. I sat thinking of the days long ago when I fished with, or watched my twin brothers scatter. We had no lures or spinning rods. Our tackle was crude but we usually got fish. We took from the shed a bamboo pole, long and light and with a short line it was surprisingly effective. We used worms or the inner silvery wall of a perch belly. No motor boat for us; maybe a flat bottomed boat but more often a raft. Our clientele was disturbed only by the water birds. We darted our bait over the water and across the jungle of pads and weeds. A pike couldn't resist, there would be a wake, a bob up and a strike. He was ours. Gane poles have nearly vanished now, but to be a successful angler they are still needed. How I wished for one today.

I rowed up the Sanborn as far as I could go then drifted back with just the catch or chuckle of the oars.

Our tackle was crude but we usually got fish. We took from the shed a bamboo pole, long and light and with a short line it was surprisingly effective. We used worms or the inner silvery wall of a perch belly. No motor boat for us; maybe a flat bottomed boat but more often a raft. Our clientele was disturbed only by the water birds. We darted our bait over the water and across the jungle of pads and weeds. A pike couldn't resist, there would be a wake, a bob up and a strike. He was ours. Gane poles have nearly vanished now, but to be a successful angler they are still needed. How I wished for one today.

I rowed up the Sanborn as far as I could go then drifted back with just the catch or chuckle of the oars.

My lure interested neither pike nor bass. I sat thinking of the days long ago when I fished with, or watched my twin brothers scatter. We had no lures or spinning rods. making gentle music.

Here I could almost melt into the landscape and believe in levitation. A kingfisher rattled overhead and a heron drew his veil line toward the bank.

I had never seen the river so polka-dotted as today. I rounded a bend on which grew three pickers! Weeds with blue reaching to match the sky.

Nothing seemed to mind my drifting until I got very near. Three black ducks rose flashing their silvery underwing linings. Three turtles around the next bend sat on an old dead branched tree, two above, one below, while across by the other bank the fourth perched on a log facing them. Plunk, went the one then plunk, plop, plop, went the three. School dismissed, swim free.

Occasionally I heard the buzz or whir of wings and noted the dragon fly as he rode a bush or a lily pad. I saw several colors, blue, salmon, pink, and a dark one. As one summed himself I noticed how far forward his six legs were crowded. They are better suited to clinging to a twig than for walking.

I spent a couple of hours in company with the quiet pond, no noisy big game fish, but also the perfection of an afternoon in the sunshine, and floating through sandbars on a small river.

Mr. and Mrs. Louise B. Chapman, Corres. —
Driving on old abandoned roads can be such an adventure. If you go far enough you can catch glimpses of things that used to be, and if you happen to know enough facts about the area you're in, then things seem to come to life. An old cellar hole, barely visible, the fields, grown up with weeds, even an occasional chimney, standing alone, oblivious to its decayed and fallen houses, are all reminders of a time gone by. There had been a whole neighborhood on one of those forgotten hills, but now there are only scattered ruins, and maybe a camp site. It's hard to understand how anything as solid and seemingly permanent as a house could be so easily wiped out. It's a pity that now is nothing but a pile of rubble, carefully cared for by one person, forgotten by the next. There are usually stories, fact and fiction about the people who lived in these houses, who worked the fields, and who were usually the early settlers, but sad as it is, as all there is left—stories.

INDEPENDENT EDUCATION

football and soccer camps. New freshmen and sophomores also arrived to undertake, as part of their orientation, a unique Environmental Survival Program (E.S.P.). Students will be trained and accompanied by members of the faculty as they spend their first school week in the White Mountain National Forest.

The E.S.P. Program continues all year on a voluntary basis. Students are given the opportunity to technical rock climb, white water canoe, kayak and sail off the coast of Maine.

"The outdoor challenges which the students face help them to realize and develop their intellectual as well as physical resources. We feel these experiences are invaluable in assisting students to face a rigorous academic program," Dolven said.

The Gould student is required to pursue five major courses of study including English, math, science and the humanities. Such subjects as Mandarin Chinese and glass blowing are as much a part of the curriculum as algebra and world history.

Many students are encouraged to undertake independent study and projects which sometimes take them off campus.

"We fully realize that the needs of youth change," Dolven said, "Gould intends to maintain a flexibility in order to answer those needs."

plate the application form and return it to the school immediately to insure the child's receiving the meal as soon as possible. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school and may be filed at any time during the year.

The information provided on the application must be kept confidential by the school and will be used only for purposes of determining eligibility. The school must also take precautions that the identity of a child receiving free or reduced price meals is not apparent to his classmates.

In the operation of the child feeding program, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, or national origin. Under the local school district's agreement with the state, a principal or other school designated official will review applications and determine eligibility.

If the parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request for a hearing to appeal the decision by phoning or writing the Superintendent of Schools.

A complete copy of the school's approved policy is on file at the office of the Superintendent of Schools where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

Any school offering both a lunch and breakfast program must provide both meals free or at reduced price to eligible children.

WINTER USE MEETINGS

snowmobile, ski touring, and other use is known to occur.

The purpose of the meetings is for administrators of the White Mountain National Forest to listen to public comments on areas where snowmobiling, ski touring and other recreation uses take place on the National Forest, conflicts with other uses of the National Forest, and any problems associated with snowmobiling and other winter uses. Comments may be written or verbal; verbal presentations will be limited to five minutes.

Information gathered at the public meetings will assist the Forest administrators in designating trails and areas where snowmobiles, ski touring, and other uses will be allowed, curtailed to some degree, or prohibited.

Anyone unable to attend the scheduled meetings may submit written statements to the Forest Supervisor, White Mountain National Forest, P. O. Box 633, Laconia, N. H. 03240, by Sept. 21, 1973.

Meetings to discuss summer trail use will be held at a later date in the spring.

TELSTAR IS 42-6 WINNER

IN MT. ABRAM CONTEST

Paul Farrar scored three goals and Levi Brown two goals as the Rebels defeated the Telstars 4-2 in a mutual 100 yard game.

It was the 10th straight win for the Rebels, defending State Champions on their 9-0 record.

A punt return set up the first goal with Telstar going 21 yards as Farrar hit over the three with only three yards. Farrar place-kicked the goal.

The Rebels struck again on the next series with quarterback Mike going 63 yards on the play. The kick for the extra point was wide of the mark.

Farrar capped a five play, drive by sweeping over the line early in the second quarter. The Rebels moved 62 yards with Farrar again getting the ball on a sweep.

Telstar closed out the half safely as Duffy Ellsworth of the Roadrunners punter in the end zone.

The Rebels wound up their first series with tallies in the end. The first march covered 63 yards with Farrar's 15 yard play highlighting the seven-play sequence that ended with the ball on the three.
